FIRATICAL ADVERTISING SCHEMES

Fortunes have been made by a judicious use of printers' ink, but it by no means follows as a natural sequence of this proposition that every advertising scheme originated in the fertile brain of some ingenious and lazy knave can be reasonably expected to yield profitable returns. There is a foolish as well as a sensible way to advertise—or we would rather say there are a thousand foolish ways of wasting money that have been misnamed "advertising." Whenever a fellow, possessed of a little smattering of knowledge of the printing business, becomes too dissipated or too worthless to hold a situation on any respectable paper, the most natural thing in the world for him to do is to start out on a tour of mingled piracy and dand-baiting, which, for want of a better term, he dignifies by the title of "writing up towns."

He interviews business men and sets before them the advantages that belong particularly to his scheme, he manages to get the free run of hotels and gin mills by virtue of promised "pulls," and after perfecting his plans he coolly enters the office of one of the local papers and endeavors to negotiate for the sale of his "article." If seldom succeeds in imposing his rubbish upon any newspaper of respectable antecedents, for no publisher of experience and discretion will lend a helping hand in floating upon his patrons the stuff usually dealt in by those worthless tramps. But unfortunately, the newspaper business seems to attract to its ranks in every town of any size some youth ambitious of fame, who has about as much knowledge of what constitutes a respectable journal as a Pinto Indian has of the Holy Ghost, and who is ready to sling into his columns anything that will relieve him from the terrible strain upon his mental powers that results from the work of "copying from his inner consciousness" the heavy editorial and the sprightly local news. To the journal controlled by men of this class the advertising dead heat seldom appears in vain, and the publisher paid for his galled victims are stored away in his columns, to be seen no more forever by any considerable number of people. Collecting all the money he can out of his scheme, he "kicks up" and drops upon some other town, there to repeat his dodge.

The point we wish to make is this: that every scheme of this character is a fraud upon the public, and ever dollar put into it is a dollar contributed to the support of some criminal and bad bet. If any merchant or business man wants to be "written up" he has only to go to one of his local papers and leave the order, when the article will be prepared by some one conversant with the facts. The traveling scribbler knows nothing of the wants of those who patronize him, and cares less. His only object is to make one of his victims as much money as possible, and give them as little in return as he can persuade them to accept. All such schemes are fraudulent, and ought to be so severely alone.

The Indian war generally begins when winter ends. Indications of this are furnished in the recent battle between the Cheyennes and a party of men at Monument Station, on the Union Pacific Railroad. The Indians were badly defeated after two hours' fighting and lost twenty-seven of their braves. We are now to see whether Sheridan's policy is to be tested on the plains or whether the government will go on with its present interminable and useless strife. Certainly the Indian Department has blundered long enough.

It is mentioned as a somewhat singular and significant fact that Judge Pierpont, the new Attorney General, has expressed himself very decidedly in public speeches against what he called the policy of Attorney General Williams in the Louisiana matter. As it is known that Williams and the President were entirely at one on this question, the condemnation of Williams was virtually the condemnation of the President.

It is mentioned as a somewhat singular and significant fact that Judge Pierpont, the new Attorney General, has expressed himself very decidedly in public speeches against what he called the policy of Attorney General Williams in the Louisiana matter. As it is known that Williams and the President were entirely at one on this question, the condemnation of Williams was virtually the condemnation of the President.

WHERE SHALL THE LIBERALS GO?

The Democrats strenuously assert that they want no allies in the coming struggle for the Presidency. They lay their defeat in 1872 to the fact that they were encumbered with a Liberal candidate and a train of his disorganized followers. Therefore they propose to go into the next fight with a Bourbon banner flying, keeping step to Bourbon music, led by Bourbon Chief, and with the understanding that they shall distribute the spoils among the men of the true faith. Says the Pittsburgh Post: "We, as Democrats, are ready to receive honest men from all parties into the Democratic party. Fair men, calling themselves Liberal Republicans, or by any other name, are gladly welcome." This is the universal echo by the Democratic press of the World's language after the Connecticut election. The party wants no allies, of any name, and only desire recruits who can fully endorse "Bill" Eaton, General Gordon and Tammany Hall. It would be interesting to hear from the Triune, Springfield Republican, Cincinnati Commercial and other Liberal organs on this cut direct by their former friends. Can they inform the public just how much they made by their backsliding, and where they stand now? Of course they are utterly in the dark as to what they propose to do.

WHAT ILLINOIS WIVES CAN DO.

The married women of Illinois acquired by the law of 1874 the right to do almost everything. They can sue and be sued in their own names, and they can be blessed privilege—see their own particular tyrants. When a husband deserts his wife, the latter has the custody of her children. If the husband stays out of the State a year, and does nothing to support the wife during that time, or if he is imprisoned in the penitentiary, she can, on obtaining an order from a court of record, manage her property absolutely. The wife is not at all liable for the husband's debts incurred before marriage, and only in exceptional circumstances for those incurred afterward. She can manage any business independently, except in case of a partnership, which she cannot enter without her husband's consent. A wife's earnings can not be touched by her husband or his creditors. A married woman can acquire, possess and sell real and personal property as freely as a married man can.

In the apostles of female suffrage who hold forth in New York could not assist in person at the ceremonies which took place at Lexington the other day, and which were designed to celebrate the birth of American liberty, they could at least assemble in a convenient hall, and there fairly discharge their wrath at the tyranny of men, by whom they are held in bondage and oppression to sheer mockery in defiance of those principles of freedom which the fathers maintained with their blood on Concord Common. This they did, albeit at first it was the purpose of Miss Lillie Deyoung Blake that the stars and stripes should not adorn the hall, because, she demanded, "What share had women in the freedom they typified?" None whatever. Their appeals had been disregarded. Their demands had been met by insults. She had read that in the coming Philadelphia Centennial a department for ladies would be the delight of the ladies. Thus it was with them—gorgeous letters to be sure, but letters nevertheless. Let them not continue to be such slaves. Let not the woman who had shared in the perils of the past be forgotten in the triumphs of the present. Let every drop of patriot blood in their veins revolt at such degradation. Certainly, and Miss Blake concluded amid screams of applause. Miss Stanton, we are told, followed in a strain somewhat less sedition, yet in conclusion she could not help exclaiming, in revolutionary tones, "Give us liberty or give us death!" But it remained for Mrs. Westbrook to make a suggestion equally novel and appalling. Caesar, she observed, had his Brutus, and Charles his Cromwell, and added: "By the final, fearful fate of oppressors everywhere, let ours take warning!" Here is something that clearly betokens murder, and it manifestly behooves the masculine sex to either slacken the reins by which our females are bound, or rivet them tighter. As for the Wife, it is decidedly of the opinion that the peace of the world, not less than the safety of mankind, demands the factor of female suffrage. Not until this presumption be removed, delayed. Our beautiful slaves are evidently aflame with the spirit of Lexington—Quincy Whig.

DECATUR, April 29.—One of the most bloody and appalling tragedies ever committed in this city was brought to light last evening. Two colored women, a mother and daughter, the former named Elizabeth Thomas and the latter Harriet Fisher, were found dead in their beds in a small house on the west side of H. Hastings street, their bodies being chopped and hacked with an axe almost beyond the semblance of human beings. Suspicion points to John Thomas, the husband of the first named victim, a colored barber, 62 years of age.

ROCKFORD, Ill., April 29.—At J. H. Speer's Short Horn sale here today, C. H. B. Lippincott, bought the celebrated bull, 21st Duke of Airshire, for $10,000. The silverized about 10,000 or thirty eight animals.

THE GREAT FIRE AT OSHKOSH.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT DETROIT.

Confession of an Iowa Murderer.

DOUBLE MURDER AT DETROIT.

Another Disk of the Scandal.

NEW YORK, April 29.—In the Beecher-Tilton trial this morning, Tracy resumed the stand, and testified I have never been counsel or legal adviser of Tilton; was requested by the church committee to attend their meetings and examine witnesses, for which I received no compensation; I was asked to become Beecher's counsel after this action, by Shearman; didn't receive a retainer from Beecher until September last; I was at Beecher's on the afternoon of July 6th; learned that Mrs. Ovington had come there with a message; Beecher didn't desire to see her, and sent me to obtain her message; I went to Mrs. Ovington's but didn't learn that Mrs. Tilton was there; subsequently I met her at Mrs. Ovington's, and discussed the object of her visit; I was present during her examination before the committee. Witnesses gave the substance of the conversation with Tilton about the committee and the condition of affairs to come before the committee. Witness said he told Tilton, between July 10th and 13th, that, as he stated the case to witnesses, he (witness) would consider his promise binding, but that, if the aspect of the case changed, he should recall the promise; either Tilton or Moulton sought and made appointments for all interviews he had with Tilton.

Beecher read a paragraph from the official report, which he said was incomprehensible to him. It was what the letters "H. B." referred to. Witnesses said the letters referred to Mrs. Stanton, wife of H. B. Stanton. Witness then continued: At the close of the interview at Moulton's office, I understood that the charge was that Beecher had made improper proposals to Mrs. Tilton, when Tilton stated his case against Beecher, witness knew no litigation could grow out of the charge, and allowed his pledge to stand; he stated this as a rule applicable to the case as stated by Tilton; he gave a pledge, knowing no litigation could grow out of the charge against Beecher; he supposed it to be insufficient when he gave it; he assumed Tilton to be serious when he desired the pledge; has not dissolved his connection with the case and does not contemplate withdrawing from the case. At the second interview with Moulton, thought Woodruff referred to the papers in Moulton's possession; he did not tell witness Tilton had charged Beecher with adultery.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., April 29.—(To-morrow morning the Nonpareil will contain the confession of John Heard, arrested and charged with the murder of John Dolan, at Avoca, on Wednesday last. Heard says he (Dolan) wanted him to sign an affidavit that he (Dolan) was not married. He was to get $150 for so signing. In the evening he and Dolan walked down to the bridge where the murder was committed and drank whisky. Sweeney came along also and was drunk. Heard got in discussion with Dolan about the $150, which Dolan said he would not pay, and cut Heard with a knife. Sweeney then struck Dolan with a club, knocked him down, and Heard hit him twice. Dolan rolled into the water. Sweeney then caught Dolan as he floated and rifled his pockets of $350, and shoved the corpse off. Heard and Sweeney then separated, both coming to Council Bluffs from different stations. Sweeney was arrested to-day, and denies Heard's statement.

MILWAUKEE, April 29.—It is impossible to ascertain the individual losses by the Oshkosh fire, as the safes are not yet out of the debris. It is thought the books and money in the bank vaults are safe. All the insurance agencies but one are burned. Gray & Harmon estimate the losses of their agency at $159,000. The assessed valuation of property destroyed will reach $2,500,000. It is thought the insurance is 50 per cent, and movable stock saved 50 per cent. About three hundred families, some of them poor, burned out. Relief committee of the Common Council has appropriated $2,000 to their immediate wants. The fire is still burning among the debris, but the rain of several hours to-day removed all danger of further outbreak.

MILWAUKEE, April 29.—Telegraphic communication with Oshkosh is almost entirely cut off. A few dispatches have reached here from adjacent stations. About one-third of the buildings in the city were burned. One estimate places the loss at two millions. All the newspaper offices are burned. The Northwestern got out a paper at 10:30. There are startling reports of depredations by thieves all over the city. The citizens of Fond du Lac held a meeting this morning and subscribed liberally for the relief of the sufferers.

CHICAGO, April 29.—The following losses are sustained by Chicago insurance agencies by the Oshkosh fire: Globe, Chicago, $6,500; Mercantile, $12,000; Citizens, $10,000; Pennsylvania, $10,000; Philadelphia, $30,000; Tradore, Chicago, $20,000; the Hartford Company is the heaviest loser, $50,000. The Fire Association and American Fire of Philadelphia loss $20,000 to $25,000; Phoenix, Brooklyn, $25,000; Phoenix, Hartford, $30,000.

DETROIT, Mich., April 29.—At 3:40 this morning, a large fire originating in the factory of the Webber Furniture Company on High and Montcalm streets consumed the factory together with ten or twelve dwelling houses adjoining, on Montcalm and John streets. The firemen were promptly on the spot. The furniture factory being filled with dry material burned like a tinder box. The building was a five-story brick 250 feet long by 125 wide and fronting on three streets, situated in a thickly settled neighborhood mostly of wooden buildings. The whole fire department were called into action, and by their exertions a very disastrous conflagration was prevented. Loss on factory building $200,000; on machinery stock and outbuildings, $100,000; estimated loss on dwellings and their contents $30,000 to $50,000. The amount of insurance is not known at this writing. The loss to the insurance companies is a total one.

The appointment of Judge Piore-pont as Attorney General, making two Cabinet officers from New York, gives some color to the rumor, now revived, that Secretary Fish will soon retire. Nevertheless, the rumor is stoutly denied in some quarters and will, we hope, prove unfounded. Mr. Fish has filled the position of Secretary of State with eminent ability and dignity. He is a gentleman whom any party may be proud to number among its supporters and whom any President is fortunate to have among his constitutional advisers.

Women always were century creatures, and those of Java are no exception to the rule. A chief of that country recently died, but before his decease gave orders that two of his youngest and handsomest wives should be killed in order that they might accompany him to the spirit land. The unreasonable creature, hearing of this order, and unwilling to accompany their liege lord to the heavenly world, fled to an English fort and placed themselves under the protection of the English flag.

THE RUSH TO KANSAS AND COLORADO.

The indications are that the rush to Kansas and Colorado will be greater than over in 1874. The shortest way to reach the Far West is through St. Louis, the great Mississippi Valley City, of over 100,000 inhabitants, and the great depot of the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern Short Line, which reaches all the great land grants in the West, and runs six fast express trains, more than any other road between St. Louis and Missouri. This road, in the last two years, has expended over two million dollars, besides earnings, in extraordinary improvement of roadway, in relaying its line with best quality of new steel and iron rails, on broad, new ties, and in passenger equipment, having substituted for ordinary cars new rolling stock, with every appliance for comfort and safety, being elegantly carpeted and fitted with the latest improvements for the convenience of ladies, gentlemen and families traveling with children, free of any extra charge. Any ticket agent selling through tickets to the West will furnish tickets by the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern Short Line, the best and shortest to Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, California and the Great West, it being the only line running through cars between St. Louis and Omaha. For map, circulars and time-tables address either F. A. Palmer, Indianapolis, Ind., or P. B. Great, St. Louis, Mo., either of whom will furnish any information desired. Jan Swift Attempted Burglary.—Last night at about 11 o'clock a couple of would-be burglars got into the residence of Mr. T. H. Wingate, and lay secreted for some time. They afterwards arose and proceeded with the utmost caution to the house, and with as much quietness as possible they attempted to make an entrance. Their operations were rather suddenly interrupted by the low growl and glistering teeth of a savage looking dog. The burglars betook themselves to flight. An hour or two passed, and the owners, hoping that the obnoxious canine was wrapped in the arms of Morpheus, they renewed their attempt, but were again driven off by the faithful animal.

A Grand Ball was given at Brennan's hall last night by the Social Boys Club. This hall, like all others given by this club, was a very enjoyable one. The dancing commenced at an early hour, and continued until half-past one. Goodman's string band furnished most excellent music.

A PRIZE FIGHT LAST NIGHT.
After two Desperate Rounds an Actor is Knocked Out of Time.
This morning at about two o'clock, a dispute arose in the hall of the St. Nicholas hotel between George Craft, of this city, and a man named Slaughter, an actor connected with the Frank Alkon Theatrical Company. After a good deal of sparring Slaughter, who is a very large man, struck and flattened Craft in a jiffy, following this up by severely pummeling him. "Boody" McClellan, one of Craft's friends, seeing this, proceeded to haul off the actor, who immediately turned upon the intruder and commenced striking at him with all his might and main. He had not much match this time, as the sequel lamentably proved. McClellan struck his assailant and felled him instantly. He was so enraged that he continued his blows, knocking down his antagonist as often as he attempted to rise. "Boody" freely used his fist, and brained up the actor's physiognomy at a lively rate. He continued pounding away at Slaughter's nose until it seemed that organ would be flattened. At this juncture Officer Wilkinson sprang into the room and separated the combatants, releasing the actor, whose nasal appendix was bleeding profusely. Craft had, meantime, gone out to wash his face, and when Policeman Wilkinson went in quest of him, Slaughter was hurried away by some of his friends, and has not been seen since.
Craft and McClellan were both required to give bond for their appearance before some one of our Justices for trial. This morning Mr. Alkon stated that he would have no quarrelsome character with his troupe, and said he had discharged Slaughter upon hearing of the difficulty he had caused.
The policemen have good reason to believe that he has not left the city yet, and they are all on the alert for him.
From the sound that proceeded from the hall where the fight was going on one would judge that all parties who were concerned in the battle were exerting their lungs to the utmost, and each one was striving himself to get the greatest possible volume of sound through his larynx. Such a lot of yelling and howling has not been heard in our quiet little city for sometime.
Texas Land Warrants for sale in quantities to suit, at the low price of 35 cents per acre, some of the best agricultural, grazing and mining lands in the United States. Call at our office and get maps, documents and explanations before buying. H. B. Durfee, Agent for the sale of Texas lands and warrants.
Daylight Robbery.—Yesterday afternoon a sneak-thief walked boldly up to the back porch of Mrs. Dawson's boarding house, on North Water street, took a fine pair of pants and made off with them. No one in the house saw the thief, and a few minutes after he left a neighbor's girl told Mrs. Dawson what had happened. The lady caught sight of the thief walking leisurely along several blocks away, and little suspecting that his theft had been noticed. A man was started in pursuit of him, but this the thief noticed, and quickened his steps. He started on in a dead run and dodged around corners and through back alleys until he was lost to view. The owner of the missing pants is Mr. W. M. Wilson, the harness-maker, who at present is confined to his bed by sickness. He says he is a loser by about $15 on account of the theft, and to him the pants are, "though lost to sight, to memory dear."
Hand Crushed.—Yesterday Charles Spencer, son of Capt. W. H. Spencer, got his right hand caught between two cars at the yard of the T. W. & W. R. R., resulting in the crushing of the middle and third fingers, and tearing the flesh from the bones. Dr. Geo. Reuth, who was called, at first thought that amputation would be necessary, but he succeeded in replacing the flesh, and the young sufferer is now doing as well as could be expected.
For Rent.—Room formerly occupied by Wayne Bros., as a carriage manufactory, next door to Eclipse Livery stable. Enquire of CALDWELL BROS.
Injunction Granted.—Elsewhere in this paper will be found the story of Mrs. George P. Miller, with reference to the difficulty between herself and her husband. Yesterday an application was made by her attorney, W. C. Johns, Esq., to Master in Chancery Brown, for an injunction restraining Berry H. Cassell from disposing of the stock of goods claimed to have been purchased of Mr. Miller by him. The respondent was represented by L. A. Buckingham, Esq., and the case was argued before the Master yesterday afternoon. A decision was rendered this morning, granting the injunction prayed for. We presume an application will now be made to Judge Smith, to dissolve the injunction, though we are not advised as to the course to be taken by parties in interest.
The Pastor of Stapp's Chapel is arranging for a grand excursion to Chicago, to include a sail on Lake Michigan, to come off during the month of May.
MARRIED.
On Thursday April 29th, by Rev. P. O. Carroll, Mr. John C. Tyson and Miss BERTHA PETER, both of this county.

THE TRUE STORY.
In our issue of Wednesday we noticed the fact that on the night before Mr. George P. Miller, the confectioner, had disposed of his stock in trade to Mr. B. H. Cassell and decamped. We also made some allusion to what Mr. Miller's friends said as to his motive in leaving—his purposes as to the support of his family, and his desire to effect a reconciliation with his wife.
We have since heard from Mrs. Miller herself a statement of the cause of the difficulty between herself and husband, and of his treatment of her. She says that soon after the disclosures known as the "Springfield Scandal," the girl whose sickness gave rise to the excitement, was taken to rooms over Miller's store on Main street, where she was nursed by Miller and his clerk, Dillon, for about four days. It was then represented to Mrs. Miller by her husband and the physician attending the girl, that there was great danger that she would die unless she was taken where she could have the best of care, and that if she died it would be from the effects of an abortion, and the probability was that her death would send Miller to the penitentiary. Mrs. Miller thus constrained, for the sake of saving her husband, consented that the girl might be brought to her house, which was done, and Mrs. M. took the best care of her possible, taking great pains to keep the fact of her presence in the house from the public. By some means, however, the matter leaked out, and Miller charged his wife with giving publicity to the matter. This gave rise to an altercation between them, and Miller ordered his wife out of the room. Upon her declining to go he fell to abusing her, striking her twice in the face, and then kicking her out of the house. This occurred on Saturday morning last, and Mrs. Miller then took her three children and went to a neighbor's, where she remained until Wednesday morning, when hearing that Miller had left the night before, she returned to her house, the girl still being there.
Upon her arrival at her home, she found some boxes which had been sent there for the purpose of removing some of the goods. This she promptly vetoed. Upon going to the girl's trunk she found that some of her things had been packed in there, and she promptly removed them, telling the girl that she must leave the premises immediately. In a short time Dillon and another man came and took her away, and Mrs. M. was informed that she was sent to Lafayette, Ind.
While the girl was kept over Miller's store he did not go home nights at all, and after she was taken to the house he stayed in the room with her every night, while Mrs. Miller, having given up her bed for the accommodation of the woman, slept upon the floor.
The above narrative is given by Mrs. Miller, and she declares her purpose to prosecute her suit for a divorce. She says that she can never be reconciled to her husband after having received such brutal treatment from him, and that she will work her fingers off in the support of her children, before they shall ever be given over to the care of such a man.
Attention, Firemen!—The Firemen's Benevolent Association will meet at headquarters on West Main street on Saturday evening, at 7 o'clock, sharp. A full attendance is requested.

Excursion to St. Louis.—At 11 o'clock this forenoon the excursion train from Danville reached the depot in this city. This excursion, it will be remembered, is under the auspices and for the benefit of the Monticello M. E. Church, and embraced pleasure-seekers from all the towns on the T. W. & W. R. R., from Danville to Decatur, together with large numbers from Champaign, Tuscola, Monticello and other points. The train consisted of eleven passenger and sleeping coaches, a baggage car and a caboose. About 150 persons joined the party at this point. The excursionists will reach "the Future Great" about 4 p. m., and will start from there at about the same hour to-morrow on the return trip. It is feared by some who saw the train that the venture will not be a very profitable one to the Monticello Church, though Rev. Mr. Villars, who is the pastor, and who has charge of the affair, seemed to be satisfied with the prospect when interviewed at the depot by our reporter.
Improvements.—Dr. Stapp and J. J. Peddicord, Esq., are making a very tasty improvement in front of their residences, on Franklin street. A curb is to be placed at the distance of several feet from the sidewalk, and the space intervening will be sodded over nicely, making a boulevard the length of the whole block. Why cannot some more of our citizens follow this example? The streets of Decatur are sufficiently wide to admit of this sort of adornment, and nothing would add more to the appearance of the city.
For Sale.—The undersigned offers for sale the following valuable business property: A brick block, consisting of two good stores, with tenement rooms overhead; also, two frame buildings, well suited to business. The above property is situated on the corner of North Water and Cerro Gordo streets, near the crossing of the T. W. & W. R. R., and is one of the best business places in the city. J. G. A RUNNER FINED.
Last night a warrant was sworn out before Justice Albert by a German woman named Elizabeth Miller, against a sewing machine runner, E. P. Bennett by name. The charge set forth in the warrant was an assault. Bennett took a change of venue, and this morning he was taken before Squire Hughes for trial.
The defendant employed H. Pasco, Esq., as his counsel, and the case for The People was conducted by City Attorney Buckingham.
About half a dozen witnesses gave in their testimony, which showed that Bennett had gone to the plaintiff's house and attempted to take away her machine because she was unable to pay $5, which was yet due the sewing machine company. When she resisted him he seized her violently by the arms and threw her on the bed. This was sufficient of a warlike proceeding to get the little woman's "Dutch" up. She grappled his hand and made him howl and leave the house. Other evidence showed that Bennett had no authority to collect the remaining $5, unless it was by the agent's order. This he had never got, and hence is liable to be arrested for other reasons than merely the assault.
After the testimony had all been given in, Buckingham made one of his "good speeches," during which he went on at some length to state that the offense was by no means a slight one, and that its enormity demanded that the defendant pay a heavy fine. Pasco defended his client as best he could, but he did not succeed in making the Squire believe that Bennett was entirely blameless. A fine of $5 and costs was assessed, which Bennett readily paid, congratulating himself on getting off so easily.
PERSONAL MENTION.
Hon. J. G. Cannon came over from Tuscola this morning, and took in the excursion to St. Louis.
J. W. Crane, editor of the Oakland Herald, that is to be, came down on us like the gently falling mist this morning. He had been to St. Louis, buying material for his new paper, which will be issued about the middle of May. He is sanguine of success, and is as light hearted and gay as he was three years ago, when showing a Faber No. 3 on the local columns of the REPUBLICAN.
Brad. DuBois, who is at present a student at the Illinois Industrial University, came over with the excursionists this morning, and stopped off here for a brief visit. He looks more than gay in his "soldier clothes," and we tremble for the peace of the young ladies who chance to set eyes upon the gray uniform which so adorns his Adonis-like corporeity. Beware of him, girls; he isn't near through school yet, and a "soldier's bride," you know—well, we advise you to do as you please, for that's what you will do anyhow.
Among the guests registered at the St. Nicholas Hotel yesterday are the following: Wm. C. Rush, Prairie City; D. M. Knowles, St. Louis; Frank Wilson and wife, Mt. Zion; C. S. Opper, Mt. Pleasant; Fred S. Potter, New Bedford; Frank C. Soberling, Chicago; A. B. Smith, Saint Louis; Frank E. Aiken, Combination, 15 number; E. H. Collins, Chicago; Wm. H. Hamilton, St. Louis; A. T. Miller, Cincinnati; J. S. Pondexter, Detroit; H. Jones, city; S. Mayor, Cincinnati; R. G. Maney, Lafayette; H. M. Marshall, city; J. C. Davidson, New York; J. W. Crane, Oakland; E. R. Every Seven Years, physiologists say, the human body is entirely changed and renewed. Every moment of our lives, every part of our bodies is wearing out and being built up anew of fresh matter. This work is accomplished by the blood, which goes through every part. But if the blood becomes weak or vitiated, and does not perform its work properly, the system is actually poisoned by the worn out matter clogging the vital organs instead of leaving the body. For dyspepsia, biliousness, kidney, skin and liver troubles, fevers, and all diseases arising from vitiated blood, DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS are a sovereign remedy. [23-4d] Wm.

A PRIZE FIGHT LAST NIGHT.

After two Desperate Rounds an Actor is Knocked Out of Time.

This morning at about two o'clock, a dispute arose in the hall of the St. Nicholas hotel between George Craft, of this city, and a man named Slaughter, an actor connected with the Frank Alken Theatrical Company. After a good deal of sparring Slaughter, who is a very large man, struck and flattened Craft in a jiffy, following this up by severely pummeling him. "Boody" McClellan, one of Craft's friends, seeing this, proceeded to haul off the actor, who immediately turned upon the intruder and commenced striking at him with all his might and main. He had met his match this time, as the sequel lamentably proved. McClellan struck his assailant and felled him instantly. He was so enraged that he continued his blows, knocking down his antagonist as often as he attempted to rise. "Boody" freely used his fist, and bruised up the actor's physiognomy at a lively rate. He continued pounding away at Slaughter's nose until it seemed that organ would be flattened. At this juncture Officer Wilkinson sprang into the room and separated the combatants, releasing the actor, whose nasal appendix was bleeding profusely. Craft had, meantime, gone out to wash his face, and when Policemen Wilkinson went in quest of him, Slaughter was hurried away by some of his friends, and has not been seen since.

Craft and McClellan were both required to give bond for their appearance before some one of our Justices for trial.

This morning Mr. Aiken stated that he would have no quarrelsome character with his troupe, and said he had discharged Slaughter upon hearing of the difficulty he had caused.

The policeman have good reason to believe that he has not left the city yet, and they are all on the alert for him.

From the sound that proceeded from the hall where the fight was going on one would judge that all parties who were concerned in the battle were exerting their lungs to the utmost, and each one was straining himself to get the greatest possible volume of sound through his larynx. Such a lot of yelling and howling has not been heard in our quiet little city for sometime.

Daylight Robbery.—Yesterday afternoon a sneak-thief walked boldly up to the back porch of Mrs. Dawson's boarding house, on North Water street, took a fine pair of pants and made off with them. No one in the house saw the thief, and a few minutes after he left a neighbor's girl told Mrs. Dawson what had happened. The lady caught sight of the thief walking leisurely along several blocks away, and little suspecting that his theft had been noticed. A man was started in pursuit of him, but this the thief noticed, and quickened his steps. He started on in a dead run and dodged around corners and through back alleys until he was lost to view. The owner of the missing pants is Mr. W. M. Wilson, the harness-maker, who at present is confined to his bed by sickness. He says he is a loser by about $15 on account of the theft, and to him the pants are, "though lost to sight, to memory dear."

Hand Crushed.—Yesterday Charles Spencer, son of Capt. W. H. Spencer, got his right hand caught between two cars at the yard of the T. W. & W. R. R., resulting in the crushing of the middle and third fingers, and tearing the flesh from the bones. Dr. Geo. Routh, who was called, at first thought that amputation would be necessary, but he succeeded in replacing the flesh, and the young sufferer is now doing as well as could be expected.

Injunction Granted.—Elsewhere in this paper will be found the story of Mrs. George P. Miller, with reference to the difficulty between herself and her husband. Yesterday an application was made by her attorney, W. C. Johns, Esq., to Master in Chancery Brown, for an injunction restraining Berry H. Cassell from disposing of the stock of goods claimed to have been purchased of Mr. Miller by him. The respondent was represented by I. A. Buckingham, Esq., and the case was argued before the Master yesterday afternoon. A decision was rendered this morning, granting the injunction prayed for. We presume an application will now be made to Judge Smith, to dissolve the injunction, though we are not advised as to the course to be taken by parties in interest.

MARRIED.
On Thursday April 29th, by Rev. P. C. Carroll, Mr. JOHN C. TYRON and Miss BERTHA PERCOT, both of this county.

THE TRUE STORY.

In our issue of Wednesday we noticed the fact that on the night before Mr. George P. Miller, the confectioner, had disposed of his stock in trade to Mr. D. H. Cassell and decamped. We also made some allusion to what Mr. Miller's friends said as to his motive in leaving—his purposes as to the support of his family, and his desire to effect a reconciliation with his wife.

We have since heard from Mrs. Miller herself a statement of the cause of the difficulty between herself and husband, and of his treatment of her. She says that soon after the disclosures known as the "Springfield Scandal," the girl whose sickness gave rise to the excitement, was taken to rooms over Miller's store on Main street, where she was nursed by Miller and his clerk, Dillon, for about four days. It was then represented to Mrs. Miller by her husband and the physician attending the girl, that there was great danger that she would die unless she was taken where she could have the best of care, and that if she died it would be from the effects of an abortion, and the probability was that her death would send Miller to the penitentiary. Mrs. Miller thus constrained, for the sake of saving her husband, consented that the girl might be brought to her house, which was done, and Mrs. M. took the best care of her possible, taking great pains to keep the fact of her presence in the house from the public. By some means, however, the matter leaked out, and Miller charged his wife with giving publicity to the matter. This gave rise to an altercation between them, and Miller ordered his wife out of the room. Upon her declining to go he fell to abusing her, striking her twice in the face, and then kicking her out of the house. This occurred on Saturday morning last, and Mrs. Miller then took her three children and went to a neighbor's, where she remained until Wednesday morning, when hearing that Miller had left the night before, she returned to her house, the girl still being there.

Upon her arrival at her home, she found some boxes which had been sent there for the purpose of removing some of the goods. This she promptly vetoed. Upon going to the girl's trunk she found that some of her things had been packed in there, and she promptly removed them, telling the girl that she must leave the premises immediately. In a short time Dillon and another man came and took her away, and Mrs. M. was informed that she was sent to Lafayette, Ind.

While the girl was kept over Miller's store he did not go home nights at all, and after she was taken to the house he stayed in the room with her every night, while Mrs. Miller, having given up her bed for the accommodation of the woman, slept upon the floor.

The above narrative is given by Mrs. Miller, and she declares her purpose to prosecute her suit for a divorce. She says that she can never be reconciled to her husband after having received such brutal treatment from him, and that she will work her fingers off in the support of her children, before they shall ever be given over to the care of such a man.

Excursion to St. Louis.—At 11 o'clock this forenoon the excursion train from Danville reached the depot in this city. This excursion, it will be remembered, is under the auspices and for the benefit of the Monticello M. E. Church, and embraced pleasure-seekers from all the towns on the T. W. & W. R. R., from Danville to Decatur, together with large numbers from Champaign, Tuscola, Monticello and other points. The train consisted of eleven passenger and sleeping coaches, a baggage car and a caboose. About 150 persons joined the party at this point. The excursionists will reach "The Future Great" about 4 p. m., and will start from there at about the same hour to-morrow on the return trip. It is feared by some who saw the train that the venture will not be a very profitable one to the Monticello Church, though Rev. Mr. Villars, who is the pastor, and who has charge of the affair, seemed to be satisfied with the prospect when interviewed at the depot by our reporter.

Improvements.—Dr. Stapp and J. J. Peddecori, Esq., are making a very tasty improvement in front of their residences, on Franklin street. A curb is to be placed at the distance of several feet from the sidewalk, and the space intervening will be sodded over nicely, making a boulevard the length of the whole block. Why cannot some more of our citizens follow this example? The streets of Decatur are sufficiently wide to admit of this sort of adornment, and nothing would add more to the appearance of the city.

For Sale.—The undersigned offers for sale the following valuable business property: A brick block, consisting of two good stores, with tenement rooms overhead; also, two frame buildings, well suited to business. The above property is situated on the corner of North Water and Cerro Gordo streets, near the crossing of the T. W. & W. R. R., and is one of the best business points in the city. J. G. A RUNNER FINED.

Last night a warrant was sworn out before Justice Albert by a German woman named Elizabeth Miller, against a sewing machine runner, E. P. Bennett by name. The charge set forth in the warrant was an assault. Bennett took a change of venue, and this morning he was taken before Squire Hughes for trial.

The defendant employed H. Pasco, Esq., as his counsel, and the case for The People was conducted by City Attorney Buckingham.

About half a dozen witnesses gave in their testimony, which showed that Bennett had gone to the plaintiff's house and attempted to take away her machine because she was unable to pay $6, which was yet due the sewing machine company. When she resisted him he seized her violently by the arms and threw her on the bed. This was sufficient of a warlike proceeding to get the little woman's "Dutch" up. She grappled his beard and made him howl and leave the house. Other evidence showed that Bennett had no authority to collect the remaining $6, unless it was by the agent's order. This he had never got, and hence is liable to be arrested for other reasons than merely the assault.

After the testimony had all been given in, Buckingham made one of his "good speeches," during which he went on at some length to state that the offence was by no means a slight one, and that its enormity demanded that the defendant pay a heavy fine. Pasco defended his client as best he could, but he did not succeed in making the Squire believe that Bennett was entirely blameless. A fine of $5 and costs was assessed, which Bennett readily paid, congratulating himself on getting off so easily.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Hon. J. G. Cannon came over from Tuscola this morning, and took in the excursion to St. Louis.

J. W. Crane, editor of the Oakland Herald, that is to be, came down on us like the gently falling mist this morning. He had been to St. Louis, buying material for his new paper, which will be issued about the middle of May. He is sanguine of success, and is as light hearted and gay as he was three years ago, when shoving a Faber No. 3 on the local columns of the REPUBLICAN.

Brad. DuBois, who is at present a student at the Illinois Industrial University, came over with the excursionists this morning, and stopped off here for a brief visit. He looks more than gay in his "soldier clothes," and we tremble for the peace of the young ladies who chance to set eyes upon the gray uniform which so adorns his Adonis-like comeliness. Beware of him, girls; he isn't near through school yet, and a "soldier's bride," you know—well, we advise you to do as you please, for that's what you will do anyhow.

Among the guests registered at the St. Nicholas Hotel yesterday are the following: Wm. C. Rush, Prairie City; D. M. Knowles, St. Louis; Frank Wilson and wife, Mt. Zion; C. S. Capps, Mt. Pulaski; Fred S. Potter, New Bedford; Frank C. Seiberling, Chicago; A. B. Smith, Saint Louis; Frank E. Aiken, Combination; 15 in number; E. H. Collins, Chicago; Wm. H. Hamilton, St. Louis; A. T. Every Seven Years, physiologists say, the human body is entirely changed and renewed. Every moment of our lives, every part of our bodies is wearing out and being built up anew of fresh matter. This work is accomplished by the blood which goes through every part. But if the blood becomes weak or vitiated, and does not perform its work properly, the system is actually poisoned by the worn out matter clogging the vital organs instead of leaving the body. For dyspepsia, biliousness, kidney, skin and liver troubles, fevers, and all diseases arising from vitiated blood, DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS are a sovereign remedy. [33-4&w1m
